

Dear Sirs,

E.ON Control Solutions is the UK's leading energy management company helping the public sector, commercial and industrial organisations use less energy through innovation and partnerships. We are committed to achieving a structured supply chain management throughout the whole of our organisation.

In order to meet our statutory obligations and to coordinate the supply chain for the company, we conduct an assessment of the safety, energy, anti-slavery, environment and quality arrangements of prospective subcontractors.

You have already completed such an assessment, but we require you on an annual basis or when we make any major changes to our policies to read and acknowledge that your business is able to be compliant.

We look forward to our continued working relationship.

Yours faithfully
